DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 10-13, 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear what the chiral status of the carbon attached to the alpha-amino group is. The reagent II and the intermediate VII both show no chiral indication, meaning that that this is a racemic mixture. The final product of Formula I however, has a chiral indicator in the structural formula (the dashed line to the amino), but not in the canonical name given for that structure, which immediately precedes it. However, there also appear in parenthesis the name “cefprozil”, and that drug is chiral at that position. Therefore, there are three indications that the position is not to be chiral (II, VII, and the canonical name) and two indication that it is to be chiral (structural formula and “cefprozil”).

Claims 10-13, 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Note above rejection. As written, the claims appear to use a racemic reagent to obtain a chiral product, but with no resolution step provided. That is certainly not enabled. Fixing the above matter will resolve this rejection as well.

The traverse is unpersuasive. The response does not come to terms with the problem here, which is the discrepancy. Indeed, the remarks do not explicitly state whether they intend the position to be not chiral, as indicated by II, VII, and the canonical name, or whether they intend the product to be chiral, as indicated by the structural formula and “cefprozil”. Instead, applicants simply point to what the specification has, which does not solve the problem, since the same inconsistency is seen in the specification. Instead, applicants say things like “the structure of Formula I is clear from the claim.” The clarity of Formula I – or any of the other formulae for that matter -- is not the issue. The problem is the internal inconsistencies between things all of which are clear. That is, the five items, I, II, VII, the canonical name and “cefprozil” are all clear, but are inconsistent with each other.

Applicants need to decide whether they intend chiral or not chiral, and then make the two corrections (to structural formula and “cefprozil”), or make the three corrections chiral (to II, VII, and the canonical name) accordingly.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
